Running safe and exciting fieldwork

The final programme is normally negotiated to suit your particular needs. Currently programmes are run for INSET, CPD, PGCE and B Ed courses.

The aim of the workshop is to prepare teachers for running out of school activities, to develop skills and confidence and to demystify the processes involved. The first part outlines the relevant legislation, HASPEV, practical risk assessment and safety guidelines.

The second part is to try out and experience a variety of activities. The centre at Castleton delivers History, Geography, Outdoor Adventure, PE, Science and Environmental packages at a variety of Curriculum levels from KS2 to GCSE.

Many of the activities are innovative and unique, archaeological digs and siege engine building for example, and the activity try outs support teachers with new ideas for exciting teaching methods.

The delivery of the workshop can be shared with the course tutor or LEA OE Advisor or we can deliver it all ourselves. Both approaches have worked well. The YHA is a charity, which supports 'the health rest and education of young people, especially those of limited means' hence our pleasure in offering this workshop at a heavily subsidised price.
